HIGH PERFORMANCE HABITS

The Six Deliberate Habits that Give You the Edge

At Fiit4GROWTH®, we liberate greatness for individuals, teams, and businesses by creating a culture of High Performance. We have partnered with the High Performance Institute to bring you High Performance Habits, in the form of 1:1 Executive coaching, group coaching, and an online course for your entire organisation. This transformational curriculum builds on the key concepts in Brendon Burchard's best-selling book High Performance Habits: How Extraordinary People Become That Way.

These Six Habits Will Accelerate Personal and Professional Performance, while maintaining well-being

Based on one of the largest surveys ever conducted on high performers, it turns out that just six habits will move the needle in helping you succeed and achieve your personal and professional goals. Learners will reflect on what high performers do consistently from goal to goal, project to project, team to team, and person to person.

How high performance coaching is delivered

The curriculum can be delivered in three ways:

1:1 COACHING

Tailored leadership development for senior executives, leaders, and high potentials, working one-on-one on their goals and challenges. This personalised approach to leadership development acts as a catalyst to enhance the performance of the individual and the teams or organisation that they lead.

GROUP COACHING

Group coaching sessions for managers in groups of 4-6 providing opportunities for individual and team development, shared learning, support and accountability.

HIGH PERFORMANCE HABITS BUILDER ONLINE COURSE

Our HPH Builder Online Course liberates greatness for every individual in your organisation. In this engaging course, Brendon Burchard teaches each of the 6 High Performance Habits with additional tools to support everyone in your organisation. Learners have 12 months access to the High Performance Habits Builder Course.

THE PATH TO HIGHER PERFORMANCE

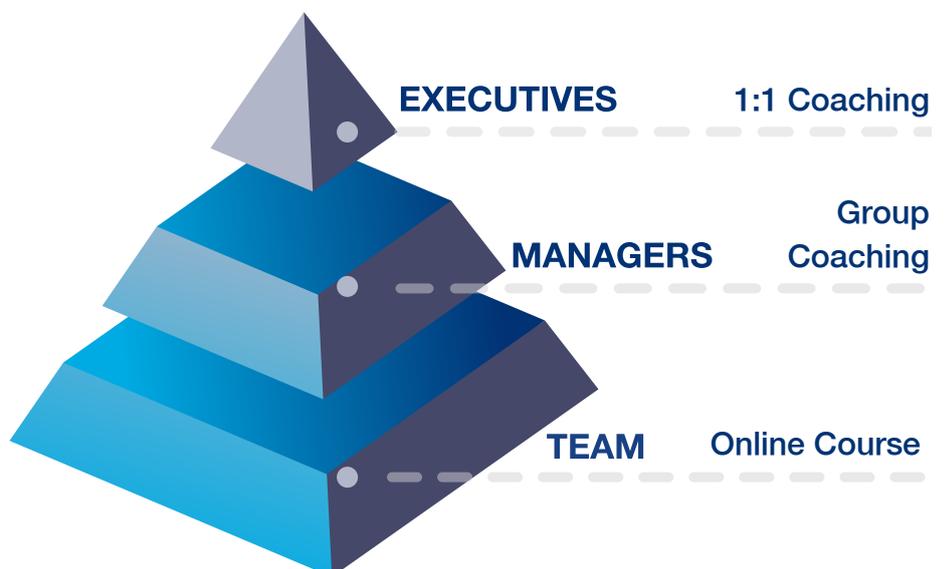

Goal: Heightened and sustained performance without negatively impacting relationships or well-being

The Learner Journey starts with an assessment based on one of the world's largest high-performance studies ever conducted, with more than 170,000 participants across 190 countries. Participants learn to master the aggregation of marginal gains, helping them develop in the areas most critical to their success. The HPI Assessment is provided before and after the programme to measure progress.

HIGH PERFORMANCE ORGANISATIONAL RESULTS

Implementing the High Performance Habits will accelerate development and foster greater organisational well-being. This programme maximises time and results in the following ways:

- People are focused on moving the needle on critical habits that increase productivity and drive results.
- A growth mindset and applied skillset to optimise their health and improve well-being.
- A common language and framework on performance so they can show up at their very best and attain mastery.
- New Skills that will become embedded in your everyday culture.
- Enhanced reputation as an employer will increase your ability to attract top talent and new customers.
- Reduced attrition cost and greater retention rates.

THE MAN BEHIND THE HABITS

Brendon Burchard is a 3-time New York Times bestselling author, a globally respected High Performance coach, and one of the world's most-watched, followed, and quoted personal development trainers with over 10 million followers across his brands. O, the Oprah Magazine named him "one of the most influential leaders in personal growth." Success Magazine ranks him in the Top 25 Most Influential success teachers along with Oprah Winfrey, Dr. Phil, Tony Robbins, Tim Ferriss, Arianna Huffington, and Deepak Chopra.

Twenty years ago, he became obsessed with answering three questions:

1. Why do some individuals and teams succeed more quickly than others and sustain that success over the long term?
2. Of those who pull it off, why are some miserable and others consistently happy on their journey?
3. What motivates people to reach for higher levels of success in the first place, and what practices help them improve the most?

After extensive science-backed original research and a decade as the world's leading High Performance coach, Burchard found the answers. It turns out that just six deliberate habits give you the edge. Anyone can practice these habits and, when they do, extraordinary things happen in their lives, relationships, and careers.

75%

of the reasons for poor performance and attrition come down to things that leaders influence*

According to Gallup Survey

Certified High Performance Coaching is a science backed process designed to help individuals and organisations succeed above standard norms whilst maintaining positive well-being and relationships.

Trusted by Fortune 500 CEOs, Olympians and Global Leaders to take their performance to the next level and go from good to great.

1. The Immediate Manager

A manager's expectations are unclear; or they provide inadequate equipment, materials, or resources; or that opportunities for development are few and far between.

It accelerates the growth of managers into Leaders but helping them find clarity on who they are as a person, how they want to interact with their team, their role as a leader and the roles of members of their team. It challenges them to be more courageous, open, honest and vulnerable. All key qualities of a great leader. It equips them with influence skills that help them to establish a deep trusting connection with their team which maximises loyalty and efficiency.

2. Poor Fit for the Job

Another sign of trouble appears when employees perceive that they don't have opportunities to do what they do best every day.

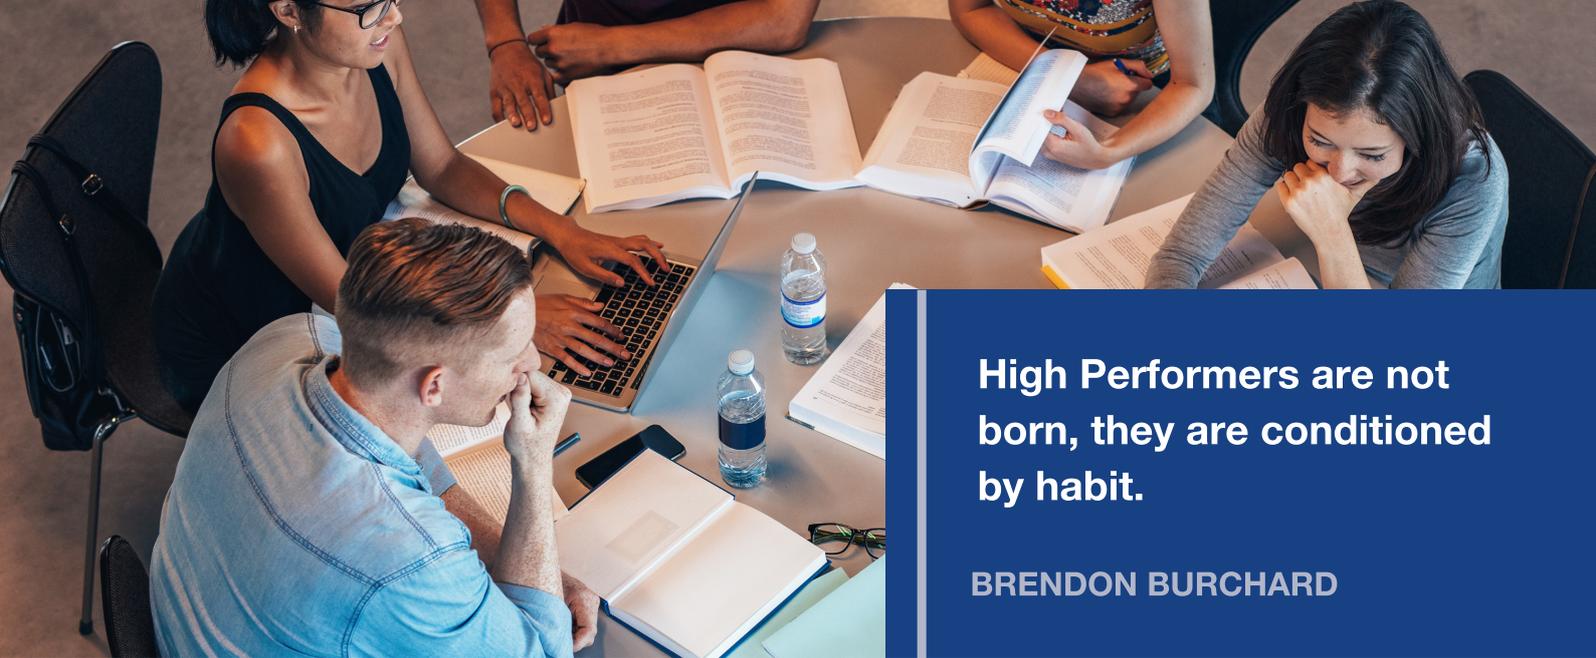

Similar to your managers, the High Performance Framework will help your employees to find clarity about themselves, their strengths and where they feel they can contribute most to your organisation. This, coupled with the courage module promotes constructive conversations around where best to match an employees talent and drive to the goals of organisation. Productivity and influence then helps the transition of role happen in a way that meets the needs of each party involved.

3. Coworkers not committed to quality

Watch for employees who perceive that their coworkers are not committed to a high standard of work.

It establishes quality and performance at the heart of your organisation, Iron sharpens Iron, and success breeds success. It will not only help to increase the quality of average performers through osmosis but will help you to create a benchmark by which performance conversations can be had and difficult decisions made with relative ease and compassion.

High Performers are not born, they are conditioned by habit.

BRENDON BURCHARD

4. Pay and Benefits

Engaged employees are far more likely to perceive that they are paid appropriately for the work they do. Pay and benefits become a big issue if employees feel that their coworkers aren't committed to quality.

High Performance drives increases in revenue and profit and therefore there will be additional funds to pay employees commensurate with their increase in performance. It also drives benefit outside of salary. The High Performance framework is a holistic framework that helps employees to increase performance in all aspects of their life - not just their career and remuneration.

5. Connection to the organisation

Another key sign that turnover may be looming appears when employees don't feel a connection to the organisation's mission or purpose or its leadership.

Similar to managers, high performance coaching will help your leaders, and you, to become better leaders. In addition to personal benefits of increased clarity, energy, courage, productivity and influence, the High Performance Habits give you a common language and framework to drive superior performance and growth in the organisation. It will help you to connect to your employees on a new level, and it will help them to connect their contribution to the wider mission, purpose and goals of your organisation.

In a Workplace with low overall engagement, recognition and praise have no effect on reducing turnover.*

Many bosses still think that all turnover comes down to money.*
